

World Wine Tour

How does a year long tour of the wine regions of the Americas, of South Africa, Australia and New Zealand grab you? Oh and throw in the Far East and South East Asia and you have a trip that really is 'of a life time'.

Delphine and Christophe Moussay-Derouet did just that and have created a beautifully designed website chronicling their envy-inducing tour.

They spent the year traveling through 37 distinct wine regions and visited a little under 200 wineries. They covered 17 countries but didn't keep a tally of the actual mileage - I mean would you?

From the architectural wonders of New Zealand's finest, through the floating vineyards of Thailand, to the famous names of California, Chile and South Africa the couple have had a ball, taken some marvelous photographs and chronicled it all in easy digestible snippets.

Great Stuff.
